

Polishing:

Polishing is a process of removing surface imperfections, such as scratches, burrs, and oxidation, to achieve a smooth and reflective finish. It is commonly used for metal parts, but can also be applied to other materials like stone and wood.

Polishing is a process of removing surface imperfections, such as scratches, burrs, and oxidation, to achieve a smooth and reflective finish. It is commonly used for metal parts, but can also be applied to other materials like stone and wood.

Polishing:

1. Back;

2. It is a process of removing surface imperfections, such as scratches, burrs, and oxidation, to achieve a smooth and reflective finish.

3. More

4. It is a process of removing surface imperfections, such as scratches, burrs, and oxidation, to achieve a smooth and reflective finish.

Polishing:

following are the steps of the polishing process:

Material	Grain	Size	Grade
Steel	Coarse	90 * 55mm 100 * 55mm	800 # 1500 # 3500 # 7000 #
Electroplated	Fine		60 # 120 # 200 # 400 #

Polishing is a process of removing surface imperfections, such as scratches, burrs, and oxidation, to achieve a smooth and reflective finish. It is commonly used for metal parts, but can also be applied to other materials like stone and wood.

Polishing is a process of removing surface imperfections, such as scratches, burrs, and oxidation, to achieve a smooth and reflective finish.

boreway®

Boreway Machinery Co., Ltd.
www.boreway.com