International Trade Terms and Conditions

3. International Trade Terms and Conditions

International trade terms and conditions are a set of standard conditions of sale that are used by international traders to specify the responsibilities of each party to a transaction. The most common terms are Incoterms, which are published by the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC). These terms define the obligations of the buyer and seller in terms of the carriage, insurance, and delivery of goods.

Common Incoterms include:
 • FOB (Free on Board)
 • CIF (Cost, Insurance, and Freight)
 • EXW (Ex Works)
 • DDP (Delivered Duty Paid)
 • DDU (Delivered Duty Unpaid)
 • DAP (Delivered at Place)
 • DAT (Delivered at Terminal)
 • DDP (Delivered Duty Paid)
 • DDU (Delivered Duty Unpaid)

These terms are essential for international trade as they clarify the responsibilities of each party and help to avoid disputes.
